In Idle Kitties Online, the kittens await the player's return.

“Why does they take so long to come back?” Ochre Cat asks.

“Maybe hir is busy?” Says the Black Cat.

“Don't be ridiculous.” Retorts the Business Cat. “It's not good for them not to be with us.”

“Why?” Asks the Fox Cat.

“Because how does they expect to collect us if they isn't here?”

“Uh...” Said the Fox Cat hesitantly. “A new cat arrives every 3 hours, regardless of whether the player is there or not.”

“So hir abandoned us? NOOOOOOO!” Screams the Dark Blue Cat.

“No, no, no! They’ll be back.” Says the Cool Cat. “We just have to be patient.”

Indeed, the movement of the mouse cursor indicates the player return.

“Great! Hir is back!” Says the White Cat with a Tuft. “Let's meow for them when they click on us.”

The usual. All the kittens are happy.
